XIO AWARDED NMCI CONTRACT

XIO Expands Its Work from DoD to the Department of Navy

MCLEAN, VIRGINIA – XIO Strategies, Inc., a leader in providing change management and supply chain management to the Federal Government and corporations, was recently awarded a contract with the Department of Navy, Navy-Marine Corps Intranet (NMCI) Program Office.

XIO will be defining the necessary requirements for inventory management tools, supply chain management processes, and identification of industry and Department of Defense (DoD) Item Unique Identification (IUID) technologies and standards. These requirements will be used to develop an automated tracking capability for the Department of Navy NMCI Program Office assets as they are allocated, acquired, deployed, relocated, and retired.

The contract award expands XIO's reach beyond the Department of Defense work it has been conducting in a similar capacity for the past four years to now include the Department of Navy. XIO assisted in bridging the gap between DoD and the Department of Navy in bringing awareness of the usefulness of the IUID technologies.

"We're excited to now call the Department of Navy one of our clients," said Mary Ann Wagner, President and founder of XIO Strategies, Inc. "We take great pride in our particular expertise in assisting federal agencies implement IUID technologies. It is particularly gratifying that we are able to utilize our knowledge in DoD IUID technologies and standards for the Department of Navy."
