XIO Strategies on Winning USTRANSCOM Team

Contract opens doors for future business

MCLEAN, VIRGINIA – XIO Strategies, Inc. today announced its participation in the winning bid for the recently awarded IDIQ contract under the Strategic Planning and Systems Integration for USTRANSCOM at Scott Air Force Base, IL. XIO Strategies was selected to be part of the team by IBM, the prime contractor, and brings extensive experience in key task areas such as Strategic Planning, Change Management, Training, Continuous Process Improvement, and Program Management.

According to the Request for Proposal (RFP), "The Strategic Planning and Systems Integration contract is a multiple-award contract to provide advisory and assistance services for USTRANSCOM at Scott Air Force Base in support of its Department of Defense (DoD) Distribution Process Owner (DPO) and other assigned missions. The contract represents an opportunity for USTRANSCOM to consolidate its future Advisory and Assistance Service efforts under one umbrella, while providing a more responsive solution to internal customers and serving the best interests of the US Government."

Mary Ann Wagner, President of XIO Strategies, notes, "This contract vehicle provides an exciting opportunity to expand our work with the Department of Defense and to continue to establish XIO as a leader in strategic change management and program management relevant to improving logistics and operational performance."
